What the 2025 Data Shows

The largest share of recorded activity was education, led by Community Health Education. Employment and job-training activity was also substantial, with Career Readiness representing nearly all records in that service area. The outcomes data document movement beyond participation, including program completion, employment, education, and housing placements.

Data Notes & Limitations

This annual report was prepared only from the supplied Apricot Provider Monthly Report export and only uses records dated in 2025. Service records include 42 unique participant identifiers, while 30 Feed Our Soul participant profiles were created in 2025; therefore, demographic percentages should not be generalized to all service participants.

Service encounters are not the same as unique people served. The workbook does not provide organizational financial statements, donor/funder totals, board information, staff counts, audited financials, or a complete narrative of partnerships and organizational milestones.

Those sections should be added from verified organizational records before publication.
